COURTESY

Courtesy is more than just being nice. Courtesy means being thoughtful and helpful to those around you. Holding open the door for others, picking up things someone dropped or saying "excuse me" when you need someone to move are all good examples of courtesy.

When you are courteous to others, it is easier to make friends, get along with others and be respected. You can show your courtesy by remembering to say, "Please" when you would like something and "Thank You", when someone gives you something or does something nice for you. If someone is speaking to you, your should always look at them and listen while they are talking. Waiting until someone is finished talking before you speak up or noticing when others are in need of help and offering to help them also shows courtesy.

You can earn bonus stars this month by demonstrating your courtesy at home. Parents may write a note explaining how your child demonstrated courtesy that can be turned in for a star.
