RESPECT

Respect is thinking and acting in a positive way about yourself or others. Respect is thinking and acting in a way that shows others you care about their feelings and their well-being. Showing respect for others includes things like not calling people mean names, treating people with courtesy, caring enough about yourself that you don't do things you know can hurt you.

Examples of what respect is:

- * You admire (respect) a historical figure who stood up for what she believed in, even when it was hard.
- * You are quiet in a library to show that you care about (respect) others' need to read without interruption.
- * You follow your parents' rules to show them you care (respect) how they feel about the situation.
- * You don't call people names because you care about (respect) their feelings.
- * You don't hit or otherwise hurt people because you care about (respect) their well-being.
- * You dress, speak, & act in a way that shows you care about what you know is right & safe, because you care about (respect) yourself and your well-being.
- * You don't interfere with other people's right to look, think, or act differently than you because you care about (respect) their feelings and well-being.

Earn a BONUS Star for Respect!

Parents, if your child shows respect at home or school we'd like to hear about it! Write a note telling us how your child demonstrated respect and send it with them to class. Students who demonstrate respect outside of class will be rewarded with bonus stars this month in addition to the star worksheet!
